VÓTÁIL RACHEL McCARTHY

CORK COUNTY COUNCIL ELECTION

Rachel McCarthy is the Sinn Féin candidate for Bandon/Kinsale/Carrigaline and surrounding areas, Rachel is 30 years old and is the mother of two young children, she is a native of Bandon and is living in the Bandon area. Rachel was elected to Bandon town Council in 2009. Rachel believes that she has a part to play in defending her community against the vicious cuts visited upon us successive FF, FG and Labour governments over the past few years and that is why she is running in the local elections, she highlights the need for Councillors who will challenge the establishment and fight against the austerity regime, and she is committed to ensuring the cosy consensus which exists between the current Councillors and officials in County Hall is challenged.

Some of Rachel's priorities;

- Sinn Féin is the only Party committed to abolishing the Local Property Tax. If elected I will call for the full 15% reduction in the Local Property Tax when it comes before Cork County Council in 2014, (current legislation only allows for the Council to increase or decrease the LPT by up to 15% from 1st January 2015).
- I will work with Cork County Council to seek the implementation of job creation initiatives that support the development and up skilling of participants with an emphasis on the creation of real jobs, increased funding in education and youth facilities. I will strive to have the concerns of your area at the heart of everything done in Cork County Hall.
